DETAILED ACTIONElection/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

SPECIE	FIGURE

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

During a telephone conversation with Richard Arett on September 21, 2004 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of Figure 3, claims 1 and 3-9. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claim 2 is withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 8 recites the limitations "a deformable element," "a ridge, lip or edge or a deformable portion" in lines 1-2. These limitations were previously recited in claim 1, resulting in a double inclusion.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 3-9 are rejected under 35 USC 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,342,055 to Eisermann et al. Eisermann discloses in Figs. 1 and 6-9 screws 14 and 16 having heads 14 and 40 and a force support/plate 12 having holes 18. The holes have ridges 30 that extend in a plane oriented obliquely to the axis of the hole. The plate is made of a polymer (col. 5, lines 3-et seq.), while the fastener is made of titanium (col. 5, lines 67-69). A titanium fastener is inherently harder than a polymer plate. Therefore, it is possible to turn the screw to deform one of the ridges 30. The relative diameter of the screw to the hole is not important, since one could still position and turn the fastener deforming the ridge. Even if the plate was equally hard as the fastener, the fastener could still deform the ridge by turning.

Art Unit: 3731

As seen in Fig. 9, the central hole is perpendicular to the plate 12. The two holes 18 beside the central hole in Fig. 9 are oblique to the plate 12. The holes of Fig. 8 are oriented oblique to one another. With respect to claim 6, either side of plate may face the bone.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure: U.S. Patent No. 4,338,926 to Kummer et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,785,713 to Jobe, and U.S. Patent No. 6,468,278 to Mucketer.
